

Eclectic is the style guide for retired Municipal Railway employee

Description

SENIOR FASHIONISTA ??? Do you know an older adult whose a sharp dresser? We might want to feature them in this column. Email janrobbins-sfseniorbeat@gmail.com.

Martha Huey, 74, lives in the Lower Pacific Heights and shops on Fillmore Street. Her favorite stores are Mio and Ruti. She calls her style eclectic. Retired from 45 years of work for the city of San Francisco, she was one of the first African American women to work at MUNI. She started as a claims investigator in 1980.

Photo by Jan Robbins

Category

1. All Posts

Date Created

30/11/2018

Author

jrobbins

default watermark